

M.S.A. Degree Competencies and Learning Goals

Upon completion of a Masters in Accounting at Lehman College, graduates will be able to possess the following competencies:

- Communication - Written
 - MSA program graduates will acquire and refine oral communication skills necessary for a global business environment
- Technology Knowledge
 - MSA program graduates will acquire competency, and the ability to apply technology tools used to analyze tax, accounting, and financial information
- Ethics, Civic & Corporate Responsibility
 - MSA program graduates will acquire, understand, and be able to communicate the ethical implications of how financial information is communicated to investors and stakeholders
- Analytical & Quantitative Proficiency
 - MSA program graduates will acquire the knowledge necessary to analyze and understand different types of tax and U.S. GAAP accounting information
- Critical Thinking & Decision Making
 - MSA program graduates will acquire the foundation for evaluating and producing effective business decision making on topics related to accounting, tax, auditing and assurance
- Technical Knowledge
 - MSA program graduates will acquire the knowledge necessary to analyze and understand different types of tax and U.S. GAAP accounting information
- Leadership
 - MSA program graduates will acquire the knowledge to effectively lead a team or group to a successful completion of a project
- Teamwork
 - MSA program graduates will develop the skills to work collaboratively with classmates
- Diversity, Equity & Inclusion
 - MSA program graduates will develop the skills to work with individuals from a wide range of backgrounds, and do so collaboratively